

SUDDEN DEATH.

An Aged Lady Thrown From a Wagon and Instantly Killed.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while Alfred Ellis, his wife and mother, Mrs. Leah Ellis, were driving along Broadway, near Eighth street, in a light spring-wagon, the horses took fright and started to run off. In crossing a gutter, Ellis' mother, who was seated in a chair in the back part of the wagon, was thrown out, falling on her head, and instantly killed. She was carried into a residence near by and Dr. Jameson called, whereupon it was found that her neck had been broken in the fall. The remains were taken in charge by Flanner & Hommown, and will be interred to-morrow. The deceased resided with her son at Millersville, and was eighty-two years of age, having lived in this county for sixty years. She was well known by all old settlers, and has lived a good and useful life, having been a consistent church member for many years. Mrs. Ellis leaves several children, all adults, to mourn her loss.

PERSONAL MENTION.

State Senator Eli Brown, of Whitley, was in the city yesterday and favored the Sentinel with a pleasant call.

AMUSEMENTS.

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS.

The Grand Opera House was filled to the doors last night, and would be again and again with the same mirthful and musical attraction. It is but reflecting the popular verdict to say that Mr. J. H. Haverly is furnishing the public with the most admirable minstrel and specialty entertainment that has been upon the boards at any time. If there are but two or three people of special burnt cork reputation, the ensemble is superb. The minstrel features are fresh and catchy, the gags new and spicy, the changes alert and the music pleasing. The performance of "The Graces" are at once the most startling and graceful this continent has ever witnessed. Mr. Haverly could not but enjoy the ovation paid his performance, while the hearty congratulations of his host of personal friends here must have delighted him.

ENGLISH'S OPERA HOUSE.

Henderson's minstrels drew another big house last night at English's Opera House. The engagement closes to-night. A matinee will be given at 2 o'clock. It is a good show. Go and see it. The admission is only ten and twenty cents.

MUSEUM.

The Dime Museum is doing a booming big business this week, and Manager Sackett continues to smile and look happy. The attractions offered, both in the curio parlors and the theaterium, are among the best of the season, and those who have not seen them should not let this afternoon or to-morrow get away without doing so. This is "children's day."

An Engine Damaged.

Engineer Thomas, of Engine No. 23, on the Big Four Road, due here from Chicago at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had a narrow escape from death before arriving in the city. About five miles north of town the connecting rod on his side of the engine broke while the engine was making about thirty-five miles an hour. The piece attached to the second driving wheel dashed through the foot-board, broke the iron handle off the side of the cab, broke the steam pump on the side and split the walking plank along the side of the boiler to pieces, besides doing other damage. It will cost at least $1,000 to repair the engine. Strange to say, Mr. Thomas was not injured.

Organ Recital.

The following programme will be rendered at the Plymouth organ recital this afternoon: Chorus from "The Creation," "The Heavens are Telling," Haydn; "Agnus Dei," from First Mass, Beethoven; Trio in E minor, Mendelssohn; Marche a la Romaine, Hummel; Recitativo, from "Martha," Schumann; "A Sweet Dream," Adams; Overture to "Saphir," Paer.

The School Board.

The School Board met last night in regular session. The report of the City Librarian showed a circulation of 24,305 volumes during April, and an addition of 218 volumes. Wants on the Treasurer for $6,547.87 were reported, and $73,727.07 was reported in the Treasury. On motion of Mr. Merritt the board resolved to order no sprinkling about any of the schools. Adjourned.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

Rhody McRay, Anna McBride, Lemuel Goodwin and Levi Halliwell, all residents of Edwardsport, Knox County, were brought to the city last night by the Federal authorities and lodged in jail on a charge of passing counterfeit money. It appears that the quartet attended Robinson's show at Washington, Davies County, a few days ago, and about midnight the woman visited the millinery and dry goods stores and bought largely, paying for the goods in counterfeit dollars. During this time the men visited the saloons and passed a number of the bogus coins. Late at night their game was detected, and the next day all were arrested. In the wagon in which they went to the show was found a handkerchief with a number of counterfeit coins tied up after the fashion of women. They had a preliminary hearing yesterday, and upon failure to give bond in the sum of $1,200 were committed to jail.

LITTLE PITTSBURG.

Revelations Concerning a Once Famous Mining Speculation.

(New York Herald.)

The trial of the suit brought by Mr. Artemus B. Holmes against Ex-Senator Jerome B. Chaffee and David H. Moffatt, Jr., for $20,000 damages, which he claims to have sustained through purchase of stock in the Little Pittsburgh Consolidated Mining Company, was resumed yesterday morning before Judge Peckham, holding Supreme Court, Circuit.

Ex-Senator Chaffee was again called to the witness stand. He took his seat as composedly as on the previous day, and was prompt and straightforward in his answers to the searching inquiries as to the history, growth and collapse of the Little Pittsburgh mine made by Mr. F. N. Bangs, who had him under cross-examination.

"You entered public life about how many years ago?" began Mr. Bangs.

"I was first elected to the United States Senate, I think, in 1855 or 1856."

"You have been more or less in public life since that time?"

"Yes, sir."

"You occasionally addressed the Senate, did you not?"

"Very few times, sir."

"You have been a writer for the press, I believe?"

"I have written some articles."

"You have written things for the press with a view of influencing public opinion, have you not?"

"I have written articles to give my opinion of the subjects written upon."

"You have seen this report, I suppose?" continued Mr. Bangs, showing a report of the company to the witness.

"I have."

"Did you talk with the Directors at the time the report appeared?"

"I think I did."

"What did you tell them?"

"I told them I thought it injudicious—too extravagant. I thought it so from information received from the mine."

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

"At the outset what were your expectations? Did you think that the mine would be worth $20,000,000?"

"I made no calculations. I knew but a small per cent, had been developed."

"Did you expect it would pan out $20,000,000?"

"It had not all been developed."

"Had you any expectations at the time of the organization of the company that the mine would pan out $20,000,000?"

"I did not know."

"I ask your expectations."

"I imagined from the amount developed that at least $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 would be realized. It might pan out $100,000,000."

"You state in one of your letters that the mine was more promising than you expected. What did you mean?"

"What did mine was developing better than I expected."

"Had it developed more ore than was in sight in July, 1879?"

"A great deal more."

"Were you present at a meeting of the Executive Committee on January 9, 1880?"

"I was not present."

"The minutes are signed by you."

"That may be. I would generally sign them after the Secretary had prepared them and said they were all right."

"Was not that meeting called to hear the report of Joseph C. Wilson, the principal Superintendent?"

"I don't know whether his report was read then or not; I think I must have heard about the examination of Mr. Wilson."

"Have you any positive recollection about it?"

"No, sir."

"Was Wilson present at that meeting?"

"I don't know."

"What shape was the ore in when you visited the mine in July and August, 1879?"

"In blocks. I thought there was a larger amount of ore than was reported."

"You refer, I suppose, to ore concealed from sight? Was not this a matter of conjecture and speculation?"

RELIABLE CALCULATIONS.

"In mining parlance we make what we call reliable calculations from the ore in sight."

"Did they turn out so?"

"No."

"Had you any intention as to the stock?"

"I intended to hold on to one-half of it."

"And yet you sold it?"

"Yes, afterward."

"What induced you to part with it?"

"The Directors were said to be selling the stock short, and bad reports came from the mine."

"And you gave up paying dividends?"

"We did."

"What do you mean by selling 'short'?"

"Selling something you haven't got."

"No, sir."

"Did you keep individual books?"

"No, sir."

"Did you have any record of dividends paid to you?"

"I have not. I received dividends, but turned them over to Chaffee & Moffatt."

DID NOT GIVE HIS INITIALS.

"Was Mr. Blaine a stockholder?" was asked later on, but with no intimation as to what Mr. Blaine the question referred to.

"He was and received dividends."

"What was the amount of his dividends?"

"The books will show."

"You say Mr. Blaine was an owner of stock," asked Mr. Sewell, taking up the red-inked examination. "When did he buy?"

"I think very soon after the general examination of the mine. He paid $20 a share."

"How many shares did he own?"

"I don't remember. It may have been 1,000 shares or less."

"We put them $2 a share—we paid them over $100,000."

"Where do you reside?"

"In Danvers; I am at present stopping in this city. I have been waiting on this law suit about two months."

"Did you not live here for a time?"

"I bought a house here, but I gave it to my daughter."

"Is she not married to a son of General Grant?"

"She is."

"Is your son-in-law in business?" asked Mr. Bangs.

"No, sir."

"When did he go out of business?"

"In May last."

"With what firm was he associated?"

"Grant & Ward."

"The inside of the blocks," Mr. Chaffee replied to an inquisitive juror, "did not turn out as much ore and of as good a quality as anticipated."

"Petered out," suggested Mr. Sewell.

Mr. George C. Lyman, Secretary of the Little Pittsburgh, was next called, and gave the names of parties to whom the stock was issued and the amounts, and to show transfers were made.

A Feminine Failing.

(Somerville Journal.)

Considering all the countless charms with which Providence has endowed lovely women it does sometimes seem strange that He didn't bestow on her the faculty of doing up a bundle decently.

The object of the National Benefit Association of Indianapolis, is to furnish protection and indemnity against the hourly and daily accidents that occur to humanity, and at rates 25 to 50 per cent. less than stock companies. The management are conservative, reliable and honorable business men, and fully worthy of confidence.

Important Insurance Change.

Mr. Robert H. Adams has retired from the Fire Insurance Agency firm of Cleveland & Adams, this city, and is succeeded by Austin H. Brown, who has for some months been engaged in that business. Charles F. Cleveland will continue, and the new firm of Cleveland & Brown, which commenced business yesterday, will conduct the same at the old office, Nos. 31 and 33 North Pennsylvania street, adjoining the Postoffice. With the well-known business qualifications and activity of the partners, this agency will secure the confidence of the community, and continue to be the most successful of the city. Mr. Adams will, as manager for Indiana, have the entire control of the business in this city and State of the Accident Insurance Company of North America.

A Bigger show inside.

Hundreds, yes, thousands of people have been attracted during the past two days by the elegant display of goods in the show windows of Albert Gall's carpet-house.

A half dozen ladies together stopped yesterday, and, after gazing a moment, one of them remarked: "Let us go in; if the show is so good outside we can't afford to lose the inside display"—and in they went.

Mr. Gall is always on hand to make sight-seers welcome, whether they buy or not.

Telephone connection to office and residences. Carriages for Weddings and Parties.

A Great Issue. First Edition, 250,000.

THE MAY CENTURY.

In the number of its pages, and in the size of the first edition, the May Century surpasses all its predecessors. It is a number especially rich in War Papers, which include: A vigorous article by GEN. GEO. B. MCCLELLAN, in which the writer speaks freely of his relations with Secretary Stanton, and enters fully into the plans and disappointments of

THE FIRST ADVANCE ON RICHMOND; and three papers by the ex-Confederates,

GEN. JOS. E. JOHNSTON, GEN. GUSTAVUS W. SMITH, and GEN. JOHN D. IMBODEN.

Gen. Johnston (whose article is a reply to Jefferson Davis) commanded against McClellan until he was wounded. Gen. Imboden relates his experiences at Bull Run, with anecdotes of Stonewall Jackson.

"RECOLLECTIONS OF A PRIVATE" describes the repulse of the troops which Gen. Johnston was leading when he was wounded. Other contents include an anecdotal paper on

GEN. GRANT AS A SOLDIER, by Gen. Adam Badeau, with a full-page portrait from a photograph taken in 1864;

THE RESCUE OF LIEUT. GREELY, by a member of the Relief Expedition, approved by Lieut. Greely; papers on the New Orleans Exposition, Typical Dogs, "Immortality and Modern Thought," and on Whittier, by E. C. Steadman, etc., etc. Sold everywhere. Price, 35 cents. THE CENTURY Co., New-York.

A LUMP OF CLAY in the hands of one man may become a common earthen jar that in the hands of another would become a beautiful faience vase—both equally useful for the purposes for which they are designed, but differing widely as the poles for decorative purposes.

In the selection of Wall Paper more bad taste is exhibited than in any other article of decoration, owing to the prevailing ignorance concerning the harmony of colors. This fault is not alone in the customer, but frequently exists in the salesman and decorator. Those who buy of ALBERT GALL are neither apt to go astray nor to be misled. He shows the LATEST, MOST VARIED and BEAUTIFUL STYLES of WALL PAPERS and DECORATIONS, and with the slightest directing no one can go amiss in buying of him.

THESE BEAUTIFUL PAPERS ARE CHEAP. Bought at the most favorable time, his customers are given the advantage of LOW-DOWN PRICES. Besides this, those who give him their orders have the assurance that their walls when decorated will stand the test of INTELLIGENT CRITICISM.
